

Cub Scout Salute Relay Race

For this relay race, divide the boys up into teams. You can have however many teams you want, but 2 to 4 is probably best.

Everyone starts at certain point, and each team is lined up in their own line.

At the go signal, the first person runs to the first station area, makes the Cub Scout sign and repeats the Scout Oath. You may want to have a copy of the Oath posted there for those who do not know it. On my honor, I will do my best. To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; To help other people at all times; To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

Then he runs to the next station, gets a licorice rope off the table and ties a square knot. (Show all the boys how to tie square knots before the race begins.)

He keeps his licorice rope with him to eat later.

Then he runs to the last station where an American Flag is posted.

He stops, salutes the flag, and repeats the Pledge of Allegiance.

Then, he turns around and runs back to his team.

When he gets there, he must use the Cub Scout handshake with the next boy in line before that boy can start his turn.

The first team (make sure the teams are equal in size or have a boy go twice) to have all the boys finish is the winning team.

Buzz Bomb Balloon

1. Place a Target. (made of cardboard, or painted on fabric) in the center of the room.
2. Give each participant a balloon. (different colors are best or have them write their name on it in marker.)
3. Have them blow up the balloon.
4. On the count of three everyone releases the balloon.
5. When the balloons finally land, the one closest to the target wins!

SUCK IT UP

Players place a straw in their mouth and use suction to transfer a pile of 25 M&M's from one plate to another in under one minute. Only one hand may be used to hold the straw. Everyone gets to eat their candy when the round is finished! This game also works well with 3 players competing in each round.

Cub Scout Salute Relay Race

For this relay race, divide the boys up into teams. You can have however many teams you want, but 2 to 4 is probably best.

Everyone starts at certain point, and each team is lined up in their own line.

At the go signal, the first person runs to the first station area, makes the Cub Scout sign and repeats the Scout Oath. You may want to have a copy of the Oath posted there for those who do not know it. On my honor, I will do my best. To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; To help other people at all times; To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

Then he runs to the next station, gets a licorice rope off the table and ties a square knot. (Show all the boys how to tie square knots before the race begins.)

He keeps his licorice rope with him to eat later.

Then he runs to the last station where an American Flag is posted.

He stops, salutes the flag, and repeats the Pledge of Allegiance.

Then, he turns around and runs back to his team.

When he gets there, he must use the Cub Scout handshake with the next boy in line before that boy can start his turn.

The first team (make sure the teams are equal in size or have a boy go twice) to have all the boys finish is the winning team.

Buzz Bomb Balloon

1. Place a Target. (made of cardboard, or painted on fabric) in the center of the room.
2. Give each participant a balloon. (different colors are best or have them write their name on it in marker.)
3. Have them blow up the balloon.
4. On the count of three everyone releases the balloon.
5. When the balloons finally land, the one closest to the target wins!

SUCK IT UP

Players place a straw in their mouth and use suction to transfer a pile of 25 M&M's from one plate to another in under one minute. Only one hand may be used to hold the straw. Everyone gets to eat their candy when the round is finished! This game also works well with 3 players competing in each round.